Message From the President

The February meeting of the Saugeen Stamp Club was well attended by 19 members.

St Matthews Church addressed their concern with the number of facility keys which could not be accounted for amongst the present organizations using the facility. They chose to re-key the locks on the doors and only allocating two keys to groups such as the Saugeen Stamp Club. The two keys are in the possession of two members (one local) and the treasurer.

Our March meeting will be on Saturday March 7th – in our usual meeting room in the Church and run from 10:00 until 2:00 P.M.

The plan for this meeting is for members to buy / sell duplicate surplus material to other interested members. There will be an opportunity to set up your material at your table where interested members can peruse what you have and what they may be interested in purchasing. Also, there will be silent auction (limit of three items per member) – PLUS a table set up for the sale of better grade material.

This should be a fun and educational meeting as members learn the collecting interests of others.

Lunch will be provided by the club!!

Jim Measures was the winner of the single page challenge and chose FLOWERS for the month of MAY

DATE: SATURDAY MARCH 7TH 2020
LOCATION: ST MATTHEWS LUTHERAN CHURCH
TIME: 10:00 TO 2:00 - doors open at 9:30
Silent auction – 3 lots / person MAX

LUNCH

Members are encouraged to bring their duplicate / surplus philatelic items to any of our club meetings with the intent of selling to interested club members.

At this event, as well as all of our events and meetings, guests, spouses and significant others are welcome to join us as we celebrate our hobby.

Another Measured Moment.....

In addition to stamps, I also collect interesting One-liners, and also a few Famous Quotes.

Here are a few quotes than may serve to amuse some. I don't have to remind Canadians about Pierre Trudeau's Fuddle Duddle or Just Watch Me! however I offer a few less well known quotes from some other famous people.

Mel Lastman, former Mayor of Toronto, is often remembered for ordering: "Bring in the Army" to clear snow; Nevertheless I like what he said when he visited a "Pride Parade", where a woman came up to him, whipped off her T-shirt exposing her breasts.

Mel's response was simply "I've seen better, I'm married to Marilyn!"

Canada's first Prime minister, Sir John A. Macdonald, when questioned in the House of Commons, why he had fired a certain Cabinet Minister replied, "In my cabinet there's room for only one drunk, and that's Me!"

The master of great quotes was certainly Sir Winston Churchill. My personal favourite Churchill quote occurred at an evening dinner party, when a lady exclaimed to Churchill, "Mr Prime Minister, you're drunk!". Winston's reply can never be forgotten, he just said, "Yes Madam, I am drunk, but in the morning I'll be sober and you will still be ugly."

And who can forget The Queen's line whenever something occurs that is obviously: rude, obscene, or insulting "We are not amused". The Royal masterful understatement!

It can be fun to tie stamps into any other interest or hobby!

A Little Philatelic Humour

A young collector asked an old advanced philatelist how he made his collection so advanced and valuable. The old guy had a look at the young nuisance and said, "Well, young man, it was in 1940 when I got a bunch of old letters from an uncle, I soaked off the stamps, dried them and put them in a presentation folder. I spent four days on this, after which I sold the stamps at my school for a cool 4 dollars. "The next morning, I invested those four dollars in some more stamps on paper. I spent the next four days on them and sold them afterwards for 6 dollars. I continued this system for a month, by the end of which I'd accumulated a fortune of 200 dollars. "Then my uncle died and left me his collection worth two million dollars..."
